Christmas Dinner

Christmas dinner is one of the most anticipated events of the holiday and is traditionally eaten on Christmas Eve or Christmas Day with family and friends. Most Christmas customs in the United States have been adopted from those in the United Kingdom: roast turkey (or other poultry), beef, ham, or pork; stuffing (or 'dressing'), squash, roasted root vegetables, brussels sprouts, and mashed potatoes are common.. Desserts include pumpkin pie, plum pudding or Christmas pudding, trifle, marzipan, pfeffernusse, sugar cookies, fruitcake, apple pie, Gooseberry Pie, carrot cake, bûche de Noël, and mince pies. In the South, coconut cake, pecan pie, and sweet potato pie are also common.
